Make sure limited space doesn't limit your retail business

In fashion and specialist stores restricted space can impact the customer experience

When access is limited and you have a fluctuating flow of customer traffic and limited access, you need entrances that do not negatively affect your customers' experience or the performance of your store. Any entrance you install needs to be able to accommodate deliveries and customers regardless of space restrictions, while also fitting with your shop's aesthetic and enticing customers inside.

If you do not have entrances that are optimal for your store, you could risk:

- Customers passing by
- Losing the feel of your store
- Wasted space
- Avoidable downtime

Save space and retain optimal performance

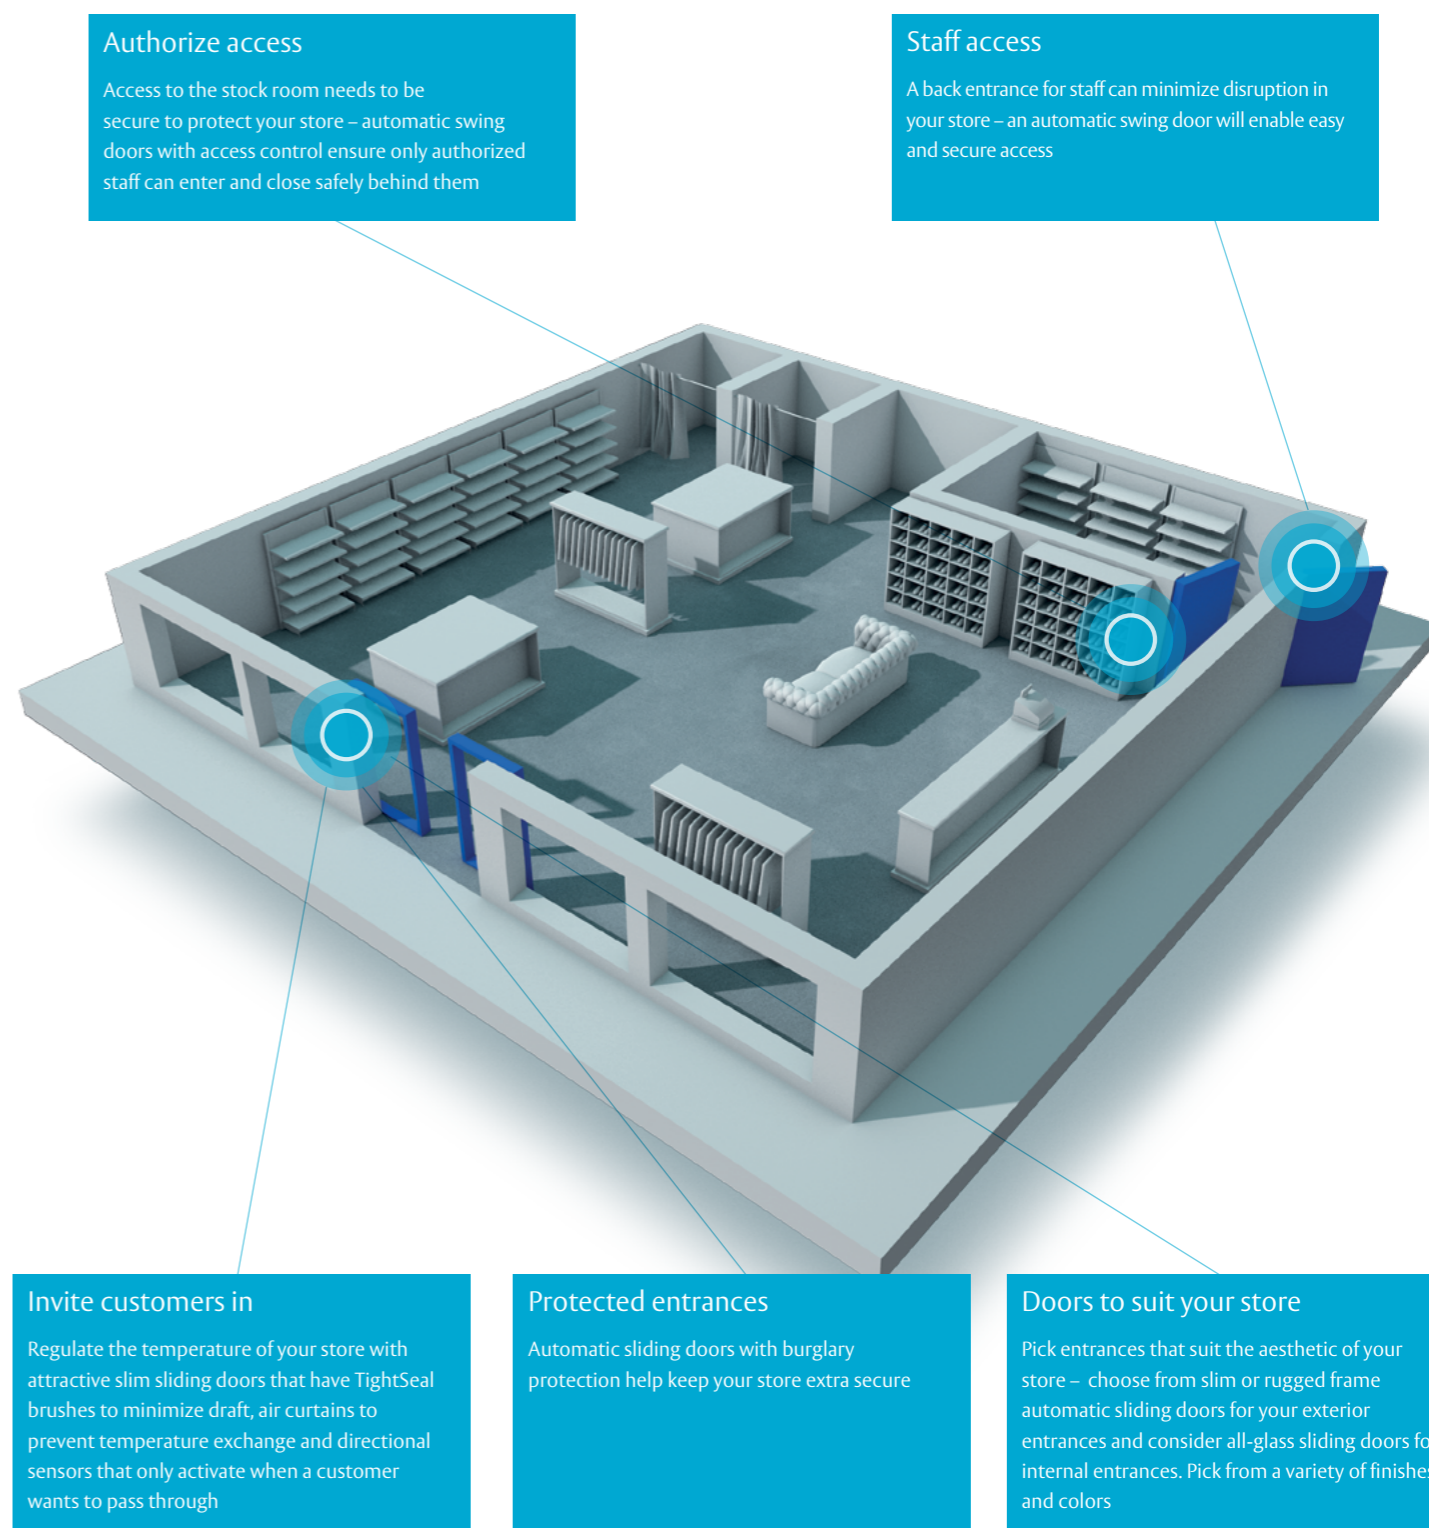

We have a door for nearly every space, no matter how limited

When space is a luxury, you need doors that can make the most of it. ASSA ABLOY products have been developed for scalability and can be fitted to any store size without losing the practicality you require for welcoming customers and receiving daily deliveries. Our doors also come in multiple styles and with various customizable features. So you can choose a door that suits the aesthetic of your business.
