and more open world

Which door does your business need?

Your business is like no other – and what moves in and out of it defines the type of industrial door you need. Whatever business you're in, the ASSA ABLOY range of sectional doors will help protect, control or speed up access to your building.

Our doors are amongst the best in the industry for safety, security and convenience. We design, build, deliver, install and service every door we make. To ensure they're a perfect fit, we customize each door to suit your exact requirements.

From small garages and delivery companies, to manufacturers and distribution warehouses, our doors are helping businesses perform at their best around the world.

Backed by seventy years of expertise and technology, and the Crawford industrial door legacy, our knowledge, skills, experience – and heritage – are second to none.

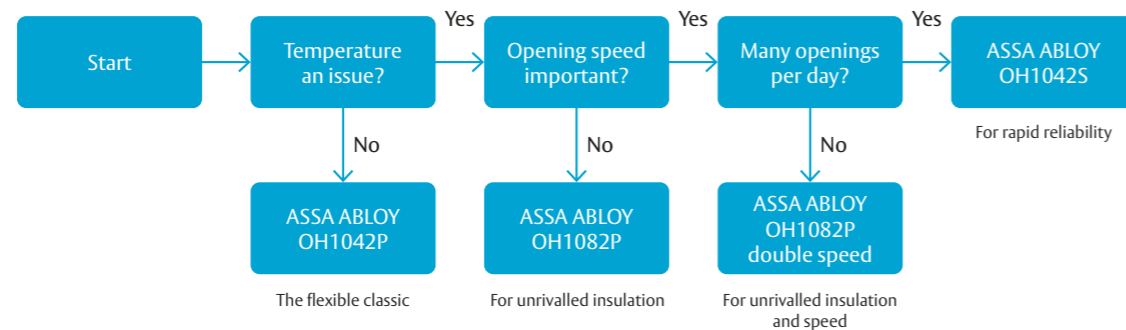

For businesses such as warehouses, car dealerships or auto shops, the multiple configuration possibilities of the ASSA ABLOY OH1042P or the natural light options of the ASSA ABLOY OH1042F provide endless flexibility

We design, build, deliver and install every door we make

Find your best match

Our door selection tool helps you identify what's right for your business and your building. Just follow the steps below to find what's best for you.

The flexible classic ASSA ABLOY OH1042P/OH1042F

The robust and flexible ASSA ABLOY OH1042P is great for securing premises and keeping the elements out. The door saves valuable space and comes with a class 3 certification for water tightness, wind load and air permeability.

The result is a door that looks good and performs in any environment – with the option to let as much natural light in as you need with glazed panels.

Choose ASSA ABLOY OH1042P for:

- Comfort, protection and security for people and goods
- Better control over energy costs
- An attractive, uniform and practical façade for your business

Configure with square or rounded windows, fully glazed panels or a pass door

Whether you work in manufacturing, logistics or distribution, the fast opening and closing ASSA ABLOY OH1042S will keep your business moving

From cold storage to temperature-sensitive production processes, the ASSA ABLOY OH1082P provides the insulation your business needs

Rapid reliability

ASSA ABLOY OH1042S

If your business is based on the efficient flow of goods, vehicles or people, in and out of your building, the rapid ASSA ABLOY OH1042S is ideal. And at an opening speed of 1 meter per second, it is 4x faster than a standard overhead sectional door.

The fast closing ASSA ABLOY OH1042S helps keep efficiency high, while limiting drafts and maintaining a regulated indoor temperature.

The fast speed ensures:

- Highly efficient working processes
- Greater staff comfort and safety
- Reduced energy use with minimized drafts

The ASSA ABLOY OH1042S motor operates four times faster than a standard sectional door

Unrivalled insulation

ASSA ABLOY OH1082P

The ASSA ABLOY OH1082P delivers big energy savings. The industry-leading 82mm of insulation is twice the thickness of a standard sectional door – a significant advantage for any business that needs to maintain a constant temperature or thermal separation.

So, whether you are paying to heat or cool your space, the ASSA ABLOY OH1082P enables you to maintain the optimum indoor temperature for your needs.

Best-in-class insulation to:

- Avoid product waste by regulating temperature
- Save energy and reduce costs
- Minimize drafts and eliminate condensation

An unrivalled 82mm of insulation with double seals at the bottom and tight seals on the side

Configure your door to fit your needs

Whatever kind of building or business type you have, you can configure ASSA ABLOY sectional doors to meet your needs.

- Choose to configure with windows
- All three doors have the same design options for a uniform facade, so you can match the ASSA ABLOY OH1082P to the ASSA ABLOY OH1042P and the ASSA ABLOY OH1042S
- Choose from a wide range of tracksets and dimensions from standard low lift, to vertical lift to high lift.
